

Privacy Policy for CB Asset Management (CB Funds)

CB Asset Management (CB Funds) has a privacy policy designed to protect the privacy of individuals and to provide a high level of service, relevant information adapted to the recipient, and compliance with legal requirements regarding both minimum requirements for storage and restrictions on how information may be used and to what extent it may be saved.

25 May 2018 the Personal Information Act (Personuppgiftslagen) was replaced by the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). This implies new constraints on what information may be saved as well as increased opportunities for persons to limit, request and correct the stored information. In addition to GDPR, many other laws affect the extent to which information may be deleted, which sometimes affect what rights may be required with reference to the GDPR.

CB Asset Management processes personal data to

- 1) inform about the funds the company manages,
- 2) comply with legal requirements under directives, regulations, guidelines, and more, and
- 3) manage the funds CB European Quality Fund and CB Save Earth Fund.

Information about name, email, and language is stored for CB Asset Management to spread information about our funds to those who expressed interest in receiving our newsletters. Other information provided to us might be saved if it is relevant for selecting which information we should give. Processing performed on the data are searches for sending monthly fact sheets and other information that we perceived that the applicant expressed interest in obtaining. The legal basis for saving this data is the consent of the person we save information about. If someone wishes to withdraw consent, this can be done by contacting CB Asset Management by phone or email.

In many cases, information must be saved due to legal requirements. Electronic communications are generally saved to derive possible complaints as well as the basis for any money laundering investigations. The legal basis for saving information in this way is a legal obligation.

Under the management of the funds, data may need to be saved due to business deals for contact with our partners. Tasks are stored, for example, in contracts and often with associated e-mail communications. Contact information is also saved on business cards that we receive at meetings and electronically in email signatures. Trade in the funds is documented and the communication is saved at least seven years. The legal basis is a contractual relationship with registered for contract and legal obligation for information related to trading in the funds.

Table 1 below shows which personal data is saved. If a task belongs to several categories, it is saved for as long as needed according to the category that means the longest time.

CB Asset Management does not sell the data to third parties. If CB Asset Management transfers data to third parties, third-party obligations as set out below will be governed by agreements with CB Asset Management. The information will only be used on behalf of CB Asset Management for the above purposes. Third parties shall by contract be required not to save, process, or forward the data beyond the extent approved by CB Asset Management, which must be for the above purposes. Third parties shall also protect the data from unauthorized access, and if there is a risk of data being disseminated, CB Asset Management shall be notified if there is a risk that the incident may endanger the rights and freedoms of natural persons.

If information about a person is disseminated in such a way that the dissemination entails a risk to the freedoms and rights of natural persons, CB Asset Management will notify the Privacy Protection

Authority as soon as possible, but no later than within 72 hours and with supplementation thereafter if all information could not be provided at the first opportunity. This applies both if the information is disseminated from CB Asset Management or from a third party to whom CB Asset Management has transferred the information, as described above, in which case it is regulated in an agreement. The reporting must take place in a manner specified by the Integritetsskyddsmyndigheten, which is currently filling in a form and sending it to the Integritetsskyddsmyndigheten by letter. The form is available on the website of Integritetsskyddsmyndigheten in two versions in Swedish, one of which is for cross-border personal data incidents, as well as corresponding versions in English.

A physical person with whom CB Asset Management stores information is entitled to request access to such information, as well as correction or deletion and limitation or removal of consent for processing. The person is entitled to receive the information in an electronically portable format.

If your personal data is registered with CB Asset Management, you as a registered person have the right to receive information about which of your personal data that the company processes and to object to a certain type of processing. If the company processes your personal data based on consent, you always have the right to withdraw such consent. You also have the right to correct incorrect information, the right to deletion and restriction, and to object to the processing of personal data. If you want information about which personal data is being processed, you can request information about this in writing at the address given below.

Contact person at CB Asset Management is CEO Alexander Jansson alexander@cbfonder.se. If any person considers CB Asset Management to handle data in violation of current legislation, complaints may be submitted to Integritetsskyddsmyndigheten. This authority shall notify whether supervision shall commence within three months after receiving the complaint. Should a message not come back within this time, the matter may be referred to court.
